Healthcare Reform, Quality and Safety

Perspectives, Participants, Partnerships and Prospects in 30 Countries

Edited by Jeffrey Braithwaite, Macquarie University, Australia, Yukihiro Matsuyama, Canon Institute for Global Studies, Japan, Russell Mannion, University of Birmingham, UK and Julie Johnson, Northwestern University, USA

'A remarkable compendium describing the journeys of change and reform in the world's healthcare systems. These accounts show the integrity of those involved, the challenges they face and the difficulty of evaluating system level change. Ultimately I was most struck by the optimism and humanity of the authors in sharing their stories and their determination to learn from both failure and success across the world.'
Charles Vincent, University of Oxford, UK

The first of its kind, here is a compendium of the current 'state of the art' in global healthcare reform. It looks at the ways reforms have developed in 30 countries, and specifically the impact national reform initiatives have had on the quality and safety of care. It explores how reforms drive quality and safety improvement, and equally how they act to negate such goals. This is a unique opportunity for the cross-fertilization of ideas on an international scale.
