The Master of Research is a two-year program and is the main pathway to Macquarie’s Doctor of Philosophy (PhD) and Master of Philosophy (MPhil) programs.

- In Year 1 (BPhil) you will undertake advanced coursework units including the study of research frontiers in your area of study.
- Year 2 (MRes) is a masters-level postgraduate research training program. You will specialise in research preparation and focus on a specific research topic, and will be required to submit a research thesis of 20,000 words.

YEAR 1

Session 1 Units

Compulsory Faculty Unit

FOAR701 Research Paradigms

This unit provides a broad overview of the research paradigms that characterise the Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences.

Through FOAR701:
- The Faculty of Arts seeks to provide students with a constructive framework to recognise the possible contribution of diverse theoretical and disciplinary approaches.
- Students will learn to better recognise the assumptions that underpin diverse approaches, their strengths, and their relations to each other, especially to facilitate collaboration and the exchange of ideas.
- Students will have a strong grasp of the intellectual terrain across Arts disciplines, having become familiar with some of the core paradigms that have persisted in our fields, including through multiple variants over time.

PLUS

3 x Disciplinary and/or Transdisciplinary Units

YEAR 1

Session 2 Units

Compulsory Unit

MRES700 Research Communications

This unit aims to enable students to:
- communicate research effectively in different modes for different audiences;
- understand what it means to conduct and report responsibly in their discipline;
- participate in academic peer review practices; and
- appreciate the uses and relative merits of traditional and contemporary research communication practices.

Compulsory Faculty Unit

FOAR700 Research Frontiers 1

This unit is delivered by departments and provides an opportunity for students to engage with leading-edge research in their discipline. Students will acquire advanced disciplinary knowledge, know about how research is carried out in a disciplinary area and will demonstrate competence in the application of research skills to the disciplinary area.

PLUS

2 x Disciplinary and/or Transdisciplinary Units

Session 1

POIR 702 Theories of International Relations
Co-badged with IRPG841
This unit provides students with a grounding in the principle theoretical approaches to the study of international relations and world order. Beginning with a focus on the historical emergence of traditional approaches such as realism, liberalism and Marxism and their competing perspectives on the causes of war and the conditions for peace, the unit goes on to consider more recent approaches, including gender approaches, critical theory, constructivism, post-colonialism, postmodernism and green theory.

Session 1 – Day
Session 1 – External
Prof Stephanie Lawson
stephanie.lawson@mq.edu.au

POIR 703 Public Policy: Theories and Practice
Co-badged with POL820
This unit provides an introduction to the Australian and international policy context, with a critical analysis of the role and influence of key institutions and actors. The unit evaluates current debates and controversies, including issues around reform and changes to the policy environment. The unit explores recent developments in the literature of policy studies, in Australia and internationally, and examines a range of theories of the policy process, including the "policy cycle" of formulation, implementation and evaluation.

Session 1 – Evening
Dr Diana Perche
diana.perche@mq.edu.au

POIR 705 Shell Unit
Co-badged with POIR901 Research Methods in Politics and International Relations
This unit examines general aspects of academic research including purpose/aims, questions and 'problems', organisation and design, the philosophy of science and associated debates, as well as specific methods and materials applied to pursue a research project including archives, interviews, surveys, quantitative, and discourse analysis.

Session 1 – Day
Session 1 – External

Session 2

POIR700 Advanced Studies in International Relations
Co-badged with IRPG831
Even in a world said to be globalising, inter- and intra-state relations remain central to an understanding of political and policy outcomes. The political drivers of foreign policy are unique to each polity but bi-lateral and multi-lateral relations develop, in ways both positive and negative, through historical experience. This unit considers key, current issues in world politics in an empirical frame of reference that varies from semester to semester but always through issue-oriented and analytical perspectives.

Session 2 – Day
Session 2 - External
Dr Lavina Lee
lavina.lee@mq.edu.au

POIR701 Advanced Studies in Politics
Co-badged with POL825
This unit examines the politics of health policy, introducing the institutions and actors engaged in global and domestic health governance, and examining the impact of power and inequality on health policy formulation and health outcomes. It explores a range of current issues in health policy, including the securitisation of health, the prevention, treatment and management of chronic and communicable diseases, the social determinants of health, and public health intervention. The unit provides a comparative understanding of health issues using case studies from Australia and around the world.

Session 2 – Evening
Dr Diana Perche
diana.perche@mq.edu.au

POIR 704 Global Political Economy
Co-badged with IRPG849
This is one of two shell units designed to permit candidates to choose two units from either: 1. a POIR specialisation in subfields of (for example) political theory, politics of gender, Mid East politics; or 2. selected units from relevant Faculty of Arts units as determined for the MRes.

Session 2 – Day
Session 2 – External
Dr Noah Bassil
