This exhibition grew from the collection of “forgotten women of science” collated over many years by Michael Gillings from the Department of Biological Sciences. The display was conceived by Lesley Hughes as part of Macquarie University’s 2018 Gender Equity Week. Zac Roberts researched the biographies, sourced the images, and did the graphical design. We thank Tanya Evans from the Department of Modern History and Michael Gillings for editorial and other advice. We are also grateful to Jane Thogersen from the Australian History Museum for her advice on design and printing, and to Jeretta Krampah and the Gender Diversity Unit from Human Resources for help with logistics. The exhibition was funded by the Faculty of Science and Engineering and we thank the Executive Dean Barbara Messerle for her enthusiastic support.
