Archaeological dig in Israel
28 Jan – 15 Feb 2018
Travel Scholarship for Teachers
Application Form

Would you like to participate in a new and exciting archaeological excavation in Israel? Gain invaluable first-hand experience of the archaeological process and bring history to life for yourself and your students back at home?

Macquarie University invites teachers of Ancient History and Studies of Religion to apply for a $2,000 travel scholarship to participate in a dig at Khiret el-Rai, an important site for the history of Israel during the biblical period.

About the Travel Scholarship

Macquarie University is offering teachers the opportunity to apply for a travel scholarship worth $2,000 each. These funds can be put towards the cost of flights and/or accommodation/meals (see brochure for details).

NB. You may also be eligible to receive a $1000 scholarship from the Australian Friends of Hebrew University. We will provide this form upon receipt of your application.

Eligibility and selection criteria

Applicants must:

- Currently teach Ancient History and/or Studies of Religion at a High School in Australia.
- Be able to attend the dig from 28 January – 15 February 2018 in Israel.
- Applications will be assessed on the basis of the answers given to the questions in the application form regarding the learning opportunities this scholarship would offer you and your students.
