

Master of Research International Studies – 2019

PROGRAM STRUCTURE

The MRes program offers unique opportunities to develop your research skills in preparation for PhD study, and enhance your employability. Our students achieve breadth and depth of advanced disciplinary knowledge and develop a range of transferable skills highly valued by employers, such as critical thinking, analysis, and oral and written communication.

If you join the BPhil/MRes program in the Faculty of Arts, you will be a part of our proud tradition of discovery and innovation in the discipline of International Studies.

The MRes in International Studies allows you to develop an in-depth specialisation in the languages and cultures of the various areas offered by our department, including: Chinese Studies, Croatian Studies, English as a Foreign Language, French and Francophone Studies, German Studies, International Studies, Italian Studies, Japanese Studies, Modern Greek Studies, Polish Studies, Russian Studies, and Spanish and Latin American Studies. Studying with us will equip you with a broad range of approaches to the study of language and culture from a transnational and interdisciplinary perspective, allowing you to understand and explore the global system through a number of critical viewpoints. Upon completing an MRes in International Studies, you will not only be an expert in your chosen area's language and culture, but will also have a multifaceted understanding of this area's position within the world and have developed sophisticated inter-cultural skills.

2019 YEAR 1 PROGRAMME

In Year 1 (BPhil) you will undertake advanced coursework units. International Studies students must take the Faculty and Department compulsory units and can select their electives from a wide range of units. For more information, please consult with your Department MRes Director and visit the 2019 Handbook.

A BPhil in International Studies will:

- Provide you with in-depth specialisation within a language and culture of your interest
- Give you the ability to explore your area specialisation through a number of critical perspectives
- Provide you with a capacity to situate your area specialisation within the global system

Candidates who successfully complete the requirements of Year 1 may continue onto Year 2 or may exit the program and be awarded a Bachelor of Philosophy (BPhil).

MEET OUR STUDENTS

"The MRes degree gave me the confidence to communicate my research in a simple and engaging manner to both expert and mainstream audiences. This experience has been vital for my subsequent PhD studies."

2019 YEAR 2 PROGRAMME

Year 2 (MRes) is a masters-level postgraduate research training program. The MRes program in International Studies builds upon language and cultural expertise developed within a specific area (listed above) to answer questions of pressing concern. Throughout the degree, you will develop sophisticated research skills and inter-cultural competence designed to explore issues within global society from the perspective of your chosen area of specialisation.

Year 2 of the program is based around five core activities:

- 1) Research Frontiers 2 (RF2)
- 2) Literature Review
- 3) Research Methods
- 4) Research Planning
- 5) Thesis (20,000 words) based on a small research project

On successful completion of the two-year program, candidates are awarded the Master of Research degree.

RESEARCH FRONTIERS 2 CONFERENCE

This annual meeting is a wonderful opportunity for Year 2 students to share information about their projects with both their peers and staff from across the Faculty, and to showcase the breadth of innovative research undertaken by our Master of Research Year Two cohort.

Dr Linda Evans, Faculty Master of Research Director

MEET OUR STUDENTS

“I am a first year PhD candidate who greatly values the learning and experience gained from having completed the Master of Research two-year program, particularly the final thesis year.”

In that intense second year, I honed my interviewing skills by traveling around Australia and interviewing 12 participants. I learned how to analyse the data thematically and with respect to the relevant theory. All the while, the discipline of fortnightly meetings with my supervisors proved the importance of preparing and maintaining a work schedule. Such experiences have given me the confidence to proceed to a PhD.”

Margaret Kelly, Master of Research graduate
