Course Description
China’s transition to a market economy and return to the global community have huge impacts over the lives of its people, as well as the rest of the world. While covering other fields such as political science, gender studies and urban studies, this course mostly employs a sociological and anthropological perspective to examine issues in contemporary Chinese society. Topics examined include not only these well-known aspects of Chinese society such as collectivism and family-centered culture, but also internet culture, the emerging civil society, ongoing sexual revolution, and increasing social polarization that are more likely associated with the enormous social change over the past four decades. Students will be asked to critically and creatively think about change and continuity in contemporary China in relation to the dynamic and complex interaction of local factors and global forces.

Learning Objectives
The objectives of this course are 1) to expose students to a broad overview of social issues in contemporary China; 2) to deepen students’ understanding of historical change and continuity, cultural diversity and the complexity of Chinese society; 3) to enable students to analyze social issues of relevance in China and beyond from critical and comparative perspectives; 4) to familiarize students with available resources for learning about Chinese society; and 5) to facilitate students’ exploration of the city life in Shanghai.

Course Requirements
Attendance and Class Participation (20%)
All assigned readings, lectures, and discussions will be the basis for examinations. Students must read the assigned readings in a timely fashion before each class meeting. I expect you to be prepared to actively participate in class discussions and share your experiences and ideas that are relevant to the class. The more you attend and participate in class, the more prepared you will be to complete the assignments and exams. For these reasons, class attendance and participation are essential. Based on the assigned readings, students are required to submit one discussion question to my email address vjzhu@soci.ecnu.edu.cn one day before the class, starting from Unit 2. Missing 2 or more discussion questions out of total 10 would lead to a grade of zero for participation.

Group Project on Urban Space Ethnography (30%)

For this exercise, you should choose a location in the city – a particular social space and observe it intensively with your group. You should visit the site no less than 2 times throughout the semester and with each visit no shorter than 1.5 hours. Detailed instruction will be provided.

Final Paper (50%)

In lieu of a final exam, students will develop and present a final paper inspired by her/his observation from the group project. Students should conduct a research on a topic of their choice that is relevant to contemporary Chinese society. Ideally, you should demonstrate a “sociological imagination” by linking what you observe in particular urban space to a social issue in today’s China. Students will present their final paper that is scheduled in the last class on 9th May. No late paper accepted.
