The weekend...

Home to world-class venues attracting global performances and events, you don’t have to go far to experience international sports, music and entertainment!

The city’s Principality Stadium, with its 73,000 capacity, hosts major events including the Rugby World Cup, Six Nations Rugby, the UEFA Champions League, music concerts and more, while the Wales Millennium Centre attracts the best of theatre, dance and entertainment to the city.

Cardiff also hosts a number of other significant events throughout the year in exciting locations, including an open-air cinema in the castle grounds, an open-air theatre festival in Sophia Gardens, an international food festival in Cardiff Bay and the Swn Welsh Music festival spanning across multiple venues in the city.
With an array of stunning locations, Wales is the perfect choice for many a film-set backdrop, but is also the setting for TV and film productions within its city locations.

The BBC recently moved their BBC Wales studios in the heart of Cardiff Bay where they bring Dr Who, Sherlock and other hit TV shows to life.

With a wealth of beautiful and interesting buildings, Cardiff University hasn’t been left out of the drama. Many of the buildings can be spotted in various guises, if you know where to look…
Offering a unique history and heritage, studying in Wales is a cultural experience like no other, with over 550 castles to explore; Europe’s oldest living language (Welsh); traditional Welsh cuisine; the annual Eisteddfod celebrations; home to notable authors such as Dylan Thomas and Roald Dahl; rich storytelling and poetry traditions; and a mythical red dragon on our national flag.

Cardiff Castle is one of the city’s most distinctive landmarks and a site of international significance. With 2,000 years of history, Cardiff Castle has been a Roman garrison, a Norman stronghold, a Victorian gothic fairy-tale fantasy, a war bunker and now an attraction and venue visited by thousands each year.

Located next to the University campus, the National Museum in Cardiff is home to Wales’ art, archaeology, natural history and geological collections. Amongst its exhibits is one of the best collection of Impressionist paintings outside of Paris including paintings by Renoir, Monet and Van Gogh. Meanwhile, on the outskirts of the city, you can explore St Fagans – the national museum of Welsh history – and take a walk through history in Wales from the iron-age to our coal mining past!
Explore our mountains and coasts, the rest of the UK and beyond.

If travel is on the agenda, Cardiff’s central train station connects to every major city in the UK. Cardiff also has its own international airport and is also within 90 minutes of Bristol airport, which hosts budget airlines who fly across Europe.

Travel an hour north of Cardiff and find yourself immersed amongst the mountains and hills of the Brecon Beacons National Park, a hiker’s and cyclist’s dream; or travel west to the rugged Pembrokeshire coastline to explore some of the finest beaches in Europe.

With three national parks and a 750 mile coastal path, you will never be short of new places to discover. Perhaps most popular with explorers is the National Park of Snowdonia – home to Snowdon, Wales’ highest mountain standing at 3,560 ft.
