Department of International Studies: Languages and Cultures

The Department of International Studies: Languages and Cultures offers students a choice of ten languages.

All languages offer introductory units, which require no previous knowledge.

Applicants should refer to the unit entry in the online Course Handbook, as there are some restrictions on some units. Background speakers are generally not eligible to take introductory units, but may take more advanced units. Applicants who have studied a language subject in their HSC may be eligible to undertake more advanced units.

Students should contact the Department (Level 2, North Wing, Australian Hearing Hub, 16 University Avenue, tel. (02) 9850 7005 or tel. (02) 9850 7008) to organise an assessment with the relevant discipline to ensure they enrol in the appropriate level. Students with previous studies in a language cannot enrol into an introductory level unit of that language.

Entry to the Asian languages units offered by the Department of International Studies is subject to a minimum ATAR of 50.00 for 2017 and 2018 HSC students.

Students interested in Chinese require an assessment before they are admitted, except for CHN112, CHN156 and CHN157.

Students interested in Japanese language (except JPS101 and JPS113) must contact Dr Mio Bryce (email: mio.bryce@mq.edu.au) for assessment. There are some general education JPS units at higher levels available.

Admission to all Session 2 and 3 language units depends on passing the corresponding Session 1 or 2 units, or in special cases, on permission from the Unit Convenor or Head of Department.
