

EDM & WEB IMAGE SIZES

THIS WEEK

1 September 2020

Suggest a story >

“Together, we can reach our full potential as scholars.”
Professor Eric Knight

New Executive Dean outlines his vision for the Macquarie Business School

NOTE: Images should be supplied in standard format e.g. JPEG, PNG or GIF

Lead feature: 600 x 253

Three lessons Australia can learn from US politics right now

10 easy yogalates moves you can (and should!) do at your desk

Features: 255 x 160

10 questions with...

Dr John Park
Senior Lecturer and Medical Oncologist, MQ Health

WHAT'S ON

Profile: Image should be at least 1MG and in landscape format

Friday 28 August | Wear it Purple Day – celebrating 10 years

1-30 September | Staff Wellbeing Month – register for an event today

Events: 255 x 160

Web features: 1410 x 743

THIS WEEK

Kids as young as six are self-harming: new research

In this edition >>

DATE: 01 March 2020

SHARE: [Facebook] [Twitter] [LinkedIn]

Alarming new research has found there were 18,223 self-harm hospitalisations of children aged 6-16 years between July 2001 and June 2019.

Lead author, Macquarie's Associate Professor Rebecca Mitchell, is calling for a "long overdue" national strategy.

"Injury prevention has been a priority area in Australia for 30 years," Rebecca says. However, she explains that the last national injury prevention strategy expired in 2014.